Mr. Charles T. How is said to be the heaviest real estate owner on Mt. Desert. A few years ago, his clegant Woodbury Park was nothing but rooks and tangled brush, comparatively worthless. The land he sold Mr. Blaine on the Highbrook land he sold Mr. Bilaire on the Highbrook road, for that gentleman's cottage, hardly anyone would have taken for a gift if they had been obliget to build a cottage on it. Mr. Bilaire's cottage cost him $20,000, and to-day he could self it with the land for $40,000. To clear away dense growths of rees and bushes, to remove rocks, to cart soll, and to besutify and make Woodbury Park what it is to-day, has cost Mr. How housands of do lars. In his speculations here, Mr. How has been remarkably fortunate.

THE STORY OF METLARANTLA, by Henry S. Willcome, is an interesting account of a Christmuized tribe of Indians in British Columbin, who under the faithful labors of Mr. William Duncan were won from cannibalism, converted to religion, educated in the arts of peace and the title to this book. The oppressions of the government, seizing their lands, and in consequence of urging their rights by simple protests, without violence, being arrested and conveyed like criminals six hundred miles from their homes, and thrown into prison, has induced them to treat, through Mr. Duncan, with the govstead land in Alaska, the boundary of which is but thirty miles from their present home. The object of this book is to place the story of the indubitable wrongs of the Metlakalıtlans before the American people and enlist public sympathy. The anther has well succeeded in doing the one and we little doubt that through his work the others will follow in generous manner. The best medical writers claim that the successful remedy for usual catarrh must be non-irritating, easy of application, and one that will by its own action, reach all the remote sores and ulcerated surfaces. The history of the efforts to treat catarrh during the past few years obliges us to admit that only one remedy has chapletely met these conditions, and that is Ely's Cream Balm. This safe and pleasant remedy has mustered catarrh as nothing else has ever done, and both physicians and patients freely concede this fact. The more distressing symptoms quickly yield more distressing symptoms quickly to it. july20 WF)
